Cookie Policy

This website uses Cookies, small text files that allow storing information about visitors' preferences to improve the site's functionalities, simplify navigation by automating procedures (e.g., website language login), and for site usage analysis.

This Website uses Tracking Tools managed directly by the Owner (commonly referred to as "first-party" Tracking Tools) and Tracking Tools that enable services provided by third parties (commonly referred to as "third-party" Tracking Tools). Unless otherwise specified in this document, these third parties have access to their respective Tracking Tools. The duration and expiration of Cookies and other similar Tracking Tools may vary depending on what is set by the Owner or each third-party provider. Some of them expire at the end of the User's browsing session.

In addition to what is specified in the description of each of the categories below, Users can obtain more detailed and updated information about the duration and any other relevant information - such as the presence of other Tracking Tools - in the privacy policies of the respective third-party providers (through the links provided) or by contacting the Owner.

Activities strictly necessary to ensure the operation of this Website and the provision of the services within it

This Website uses Cookies commonly referred to as "technical" or other similar Tracking Tools to perform activities strictly necessary to ensure the operation or provision of the Service.

Necessary Cookies:

How to manage preferences and provide or revoke consent on this Website

If the use of Trackers is based on consent, the User can provide or revoke such consent by setting or updating their preferences through the relevant privacy choices panel available on this Website. Regarding third-party Tracking Tools, Users can manage their preferences by visiting the relevant opt-out link (if available), using the tools described in the third party's privacy policy, or by contacting the third party directly.

How to control or delete Cookies and similar technologies through your device settings

Users can use their browser settings to:

- See which Cookies or other similar technologies have been set on the device;
- Block Cookies or similar technologies;
- Delete Cookies or similar technologies from the browser.

However, browser settings do not allow granular control of consent by category. Users can find information on how to manage Cookies in some of the most popular browsers at the following addresses:

- Google Chrome
- Mozilla Firefox
- Apple Safari
- Microsoft Internet Explorer
- Microsoft Edge
- Brave
- Opera

Users can also manage some Tracking Tools for mobile applications by deactivating them through the appropriate device settings, such as mobile device advertising settings or general tracking settings (Users can consult the device settings to find the relevant one).

How to disable interest-based advertising

Notwithstanding the above, Users are informed of the possibility of using the information available on:

- YourOnlineChoices (EU and UK)
- Network Advertising Initiative (USA)
- e Digital Advertising Alliance (USA)
- DAAC (Canada)
- DDAI (Japan)
- or other similar services.

These services allow you to manage the tracking preferences of most advertising tools. The Owner therefore advises Users to use these resources in addition to the information provided in this document. The Digital Advertising Alliance also provides an application called AppChoices that helps Users control behavioral advertising on mobile applications.

Consequences of refusing the use of Tracking Tools

Users are free to decide whether or not to allow the use of Tracking Tools. However, please note that Tracking Tools enable this Website to provide Users with a better experience and advanced functionalities (in line with the purposes outlined in this document). Therefore, if the User decides to block the use of Tracking Tools, the Owner may not be able to provide the related functionalities.
